

Can I use an external registry to register domains and then use the Domain Control Panel?

If you have purchased a domain name from another registrar, you cannot use our Domain Control Panel as long as it is registered with that registrar. You will need to transfer your domain name fully into your Heart Internet account to use the Domain Control Panel. If your domain cannot be transferred, you can still purchase and use one of our hosting packages to create your website and use our Domain Control Panel, but you still will not be able to use the Domain Control Panel.
