You can use GTmetrix to analyze the load time of your website, and use the results to determine how to speed it up. Go to theÂ GTmetrix site. Enter your domain where it says "Enter URL to Analyze" ClickÂ Analyze. Review theÂ Performance ScoresÂ section to view overall scores for your site's performace. Review theÂ Page DetailsÂ section some specifics about load time, page size, and number of requests. Review theÂ PageSpeedÂ tab and make note of any recommendations to leverage browser caching, defer parsing of JavaScript, minify JavaScript or CSS, and optimize images. Review theÂ YSlowÂ tab and look for suggestions to add expires headers, or make fewer HTTP requests on your site.
