This error occurs when more than three concurrent FTP connections are attempted on the same login. This can be b three people are connected to your site through a single FTP account, which can happen if you have a team working be because your FTP client is attempting to make multiple connections to increase transfer speed. In your FTP clien option to set the number of simultaneous connections. If to set this to a maximum of three, this should eliminate the p that no other computers are connected to the server at the time when you connect.
